

Positively Clean, Clearing Sacred Space

by Priscilla Connors

There is energy work being done on the planet at this time to clear the earth's natural magnetic grid lines of low frequencies, and negative thought forms. This work raises the frequency and vibration of the land bringing it to its highest state in accordance with divine creation. It also restores the earth's original blueprints. This work is called Sacred Space Clearing.

Through geomancy, human consciousness meets and dialogs with the spirit of the earth which empowers the harmonious interaction between person and place in a co-creative effort. Everything in existence has a consciousness that is connected. They are discovering this in the field of quantum physics. This conscious connection in sacred space clearing is called the Deva. Everything has a Deva, the land, the book you are reading, your car, and even your computer. In humans, it's called your higher self. It is possible to contact the Deva or conscious connection to the "one." The Deva, when clearing sacred space, is in charge of all the forces of nature on the property, and will work in a co-creative effort to change and raise the energy on the property being cleared. This in turn creates a patch for divine creation to anchor itself to the earth. As above, so below. Every human has the capability to do this type of energy work.

In our ancient past, humans and Devas worked together all the time, until humans started abusing this privilege. So creator put an end to that until a time when this would not happen again. Well that time is now! We need to heal the Earth and ourselves. We need each other. The Devas are thrilled to be working together with humans again. We are creators, and we can work in a co-creative effort with nature to heal the planet, and re-create it the way we want it to be! Sacred space clearing is the foundation for living a harmonious life. All of your other efforts to live a holistic lifestyle will only be enhanced and supported when the earth around you is holding the highest frequency.

How It's Done

First, and most important, permission from the property owner must be given to clear the property. You also need permission from the Deva as well. In most cases, I have found that permission from the Deva is not given until all previous vows and commitments have been released from the land first. The land we walk is ancient. You never know who has been here before us, so it is always best to clear the slate before beginning. Communication with the Deva in sacred space clearing is done with an attitude of love, service, respect, and humbleness. Dowsing or "divining" rods are used to communicate. I use L-rods. Kinesiology or the "science of movement" is obtained through the rods. The assistance of all my guides and angels is invoked and many other helpers from other higher plains of existence. The stage is set for the clearing to begin.

Certain symbols and sacred geometry are then given to the Deva. Sacred geometry is the universal language of light. It is how the cosmic life of the heavens expresses itself on earth. "As above so below." These are the patterns you find in nature like the spiral of a seashell, or the patterns you see in plants. Sacred geometry has been used in building the pyramids and in most ancient architecture. Metatron's Cube and the Flower of Life patterns are given to the Deva or angel of the property as tools that it can work with to rearrange the ch'i, or life force, of the property. The flower of life has 19 intersecting circles which form tiny flower patterns. If looked at as every circle representing each human, it can be a good reminder that we are all connected as well, and should treat each other as the flowers that we are.

Cymatics is also used. Cymatics are vibrational patterns caused by sound frequency. Toning and certain mantras are used. The Loka prayer is used to wish peace to all life in the universe and the angelics and Devas of all the different areas on the property that are helping out in the co-creative effort. The Gayatri mantra is also used to anchor the light of the sun. These two mantras are ancient Vedic chants.

Pure essential oils of very high frequency are used as an offering of thanks. Also, the Deva can replicate the molecular structure and blueprint of the oil anywhere on the property they see fit. The macrocosm reflects the microcosm. We live in a holographic universe. All the Deva needs is a tiny drop of oil. I have been doing some experimenting with Dr. Masaru Emoto's water crystal oracle cards. I am very concerned about the water situation on the planet at this time, so I am working with the Deva of the water crystals. The Deva of the water crystal can lend its blueprint to the Deva of the water on the property being cleared. If both agree to do this, the water is transformed to that of the water molecule being offered. So far, I have had really positive results!

The Grid Lines

Hartman lines and geopathic stress lines are parts of the earth's natural magnetic grid. The grid lines hold onto the consciousness that is emitted by humans. They also have their own Deva. When asked properly, the Deva is able to tweak the spin of the energy line so that it will no longer hold the negative energy, and this raises the frequency as well. It's quite amazing. The Grid lines hold the frequencies of all of our wonderful computers and cellular phones and of course don't forget the minimum two TVs per household rule. All of these things and more emit very low electromagnetic frequencies into the earth's natural magnetic grid lines. Televisions emit this low frequency 8-9 feet in all directions around the box. Think of that next time you or your children fall asleep in front of the T.V.

The Planet has a web or grid of energy that is connected. The Deva of the grid lines have only up until now been instructed to transmit the frequencies of human consciousness, and they have done a great job. It's not their fault that human consciousness is in the state it is at this point in the earth's history. However, we can change this. Think positive happy thoughts! The geopathic grid lines before being cleared are noxious. They cause disharmony to any and all life forms they flow through (except for cats - if your cat lays in a particular spot all the time, guaranteed there is a Hartman line running through it. Go figure!) Some of the negative effects to humans are sleep disorders, vision problems, memory loss, chronic fatigue, inability to heal, anxiety, dizziness, ADD, cancer, frequent headaches, insatiability, nausea, problematic menstrual cycles, hyperactivity, and depression. Sounds similar to many of the dis-ease plaguing our society today.

So all those low frequencies from everyone's negative thinking and low frequencies from all the electromagnetic devices are making us sick. They are also making the planet sick. The grid lines are especially harmful if they criss-cross through your bed where you sleep, or certain places you spend long periods of time. The negative vibrations affect every part of your being - physically, emotionally, mentally and spiritually.

Releasing Geopathic Stress

After all the negative thought forms and geopathic stress has been released, the land is able to hold the highest frequency in accordance with the mother earth and the father God. This is beneficial to all life forms within that property. Some of the positive benefits of sacred space clearing for humans are an increase in energy and vitality, better quality of sleep, strengthened immune system, better communication, healthier plant life inside and outside the home, an increase of birds, butterflies and wild life. Your pets and children will be more at ease, your relationships will improve, and an increase in financial flow and creativity. Despite all the chaos going on in the world right now, it is possible to create heaven on earth, on YOUR property! It's a beautiful thing.

My Experience

I would like to share some of my experiences while clearing sacred space. Last summer, while I was watering my garden and setting up a standing buddhic column (one of the symbols used in space clearing), a huge dragonfly entered my garden. Dragonflies represent the power of light. It proceeded to go back and forth within the fence of my garden for several minutes, flying very close by me. I couldn't believe the behavior of this gigantic dragonfly. I had never before seen anything like it!! Then it proceeded to go to another garden on my property and do the same thing. Well, after that happened we had never seen such growth before. A rose bush we had planted was not doing very well (roses are very temperamental); it suddenly started producing rose after beautiful rose, and continued well into November. Our vegetables had such tremendous growth; we had to give a lot away (which we are always happy to do). I am looking forward to gardening this year. You never know what miraculous things are going to happen next with Mother Nature.

I live in the Lake Pocotopaug area in East Hampton. The lake has a blue-green algae problem, so I have been working with the Deva to see what we can do. After performing a sacred space clearing I always ask, "Is there anything else that I can do for you?" It said no. I asked if the Deva knew how much I loved the lake. After I did this, my dowsing rods swung around me on either side. Usually they swing in for yes and stay straight for no, but this time they went out and around like a hug. I immediately asked the Deva if this was a hug and it did it again before I even finished the question. So yes, it is even possible to get a hug from a lake! Very sweet. It brought tears to my eyes. The Deva is doing a beautiful job on the lake; the water is extremely clear compared to this time last year (April). Now we just have to stop everyone from using all the lovely chemicals on their lawns in the watershed area. We'll see what happens this year. July 25 is Thank the Water Day, started by Dr. Masaru Emoto, so feel free to come on over to Lake Pocotopaug, or any lake and thank the water!! All the water is connected as well, so connecting with any water on that day or any day and sending your positive feelings toward that water will have positive effects on all the water of our beautiful planet.

Real Estate

There have been positive results in selling properties with sacred space clearing. If a property is not selling, there could be some old stagnant energy that needs to be released. Once the land is cleared of geopathic stress and negative thought patterns (including energies of the dear departed who might be lingering), there is always a feeling of ease, and therefore your chances of selling are greater because of the good feelings the land emits after being cleared. Sacred space clearing is also useful for properties that have just been sold. It is good to clear out the previous occupants' energies before moving into a new house. That way you can start your new journey in your new house with a clean and clear slate!

Good for Everyone

There is a saying, "If it's not for everybody than it's not for me!" It's not always easy to do this, but it's a good goal to strive for. I believe things are changing in the human consciousness. We are doing some really great things to change for the better. Today while I am writing this (March 29th), we are about to participate in Earth Hour. I am so excited this is happening! Something so simple as shutting your house or business down for an hour has such a positive effect on the grid lines as well. We have practiced "Earth Hour" in my family for a while now (and didn't even realize that is what we were doing). When the weather is bearable, I shut my house down and take the kids outside for at least an hour a day. I started doing this to save money on our electric bill, and we all need to get outside. Now I see it will also contribute to the greater good for all, including the planet. Clearing the negative energies from the earth's grid lines will benefit everyone, too. The less negativity lingering around, the better. We must continue with harmonic defiance to create the kind of world we choose to live in. Harmonic defiance means that whatever reality you enter, you can be a Super Being and say, "Through my harmony, I am defiant to ward off all old negative vibrational frequencies!" Looking back at my life, this explains my defiant nature, and why my children are also so defiant. Now, however, I know I can use my powers for good, and hopefully they will, too.

Holistic Cleaning Products

I have also developed harmonizing, earth loving household cleaners that contribute to the balance of the property being cleared. Positively Clean products are made with natural ingredient and most important, PURE essential oils. Aromatherapy is obtained while cleaning with these powerful cleaners. I have chosen an emotional balancing combination for the aroma. The oils also ensure cleaning ability and when spread throughout the area being cleaned, raise the vibration of area to the same vibration of the oils in the products, bringing that space ALIVE! No toxic residues or toxic clouds for anyone to breathe in or make you sick. Before I clean, I offer the oils in my products to the Deva of the property. This is a continuation of the co-creative effort of maintaining the highest frequency of that property inside and outside. The more people using natural cleaning products, the better it is for All. It ensures the cleanliness of the water on the planet for future generations. The baking soda helps to balance the PH levels in the water, and Goddess knows the water needs to be balanced! I also offer private home parties for the cleaning products. A demonstration includes a thorough cleaning of the space where the party is being held. Sacred Space clearing has deepened my connection to the earth in profound ways. It has helped me and my family live a more harmonious life, and it is a tremendous honor for me to do this work. I pray for the highest good for all the universe.
